Peril of Sleep Walkers.

From the Kansas City Times. The reason many persons walk in their sleep is because one part of the mind is wide awake when the other is asleep. But the curious thing about sleep walking is just because the walker is asleep and not conscious he can walk over dan-gerous spots which would probably cause him to fall through nervousness if he were wide awake. But as he is not awake and not conscious, he generally walke safely and remembers nothing
